Mantrose-Haeuser Introduces New Series of Aqueous Controlled Release Coatings

USA - Westport, CT – May 5, 2013: Edible coatings leader Mantrose-Haeuser Co., Inc. (www.mantrose.com) has extended its proprietary line of controlled release coatings designed for the nutritional supplements and pharmaceutical industries.

The Certiseal® 700 Series is a family of high performance and economical aqueous coating systems formulated with 100% GRAS ingredients, incorporating a natural film forming resin. This product line provides improved dissolution and disintegration, an attractive glossy appearance, and excellent adhesion and barrier properties. The Certiseal 700 Series products are stable, robust coating systems designed for use on tablets and soft gelatin capsules and are superior alternatives to synthetic and solvent-based systems.

The Certiseal 700 Series provides reproducible performance for tablets and capsules. The Certiseal 700 product family of controlled release coatings provides fast film build and low tack time using standard equipment including side-vented pans, fluidized bed systems with top, bottom or tangential spray nozzles or conventional pans. The Certiseal 700 coatings are fully supported by Mantrose-Haeuser's world class technical team.

Mantrose-Haeuser offers a wide range of Certified® Pharmaceutical Glazes meeting USP, EP and JP monographs, Certiseal® Aqueous Glazes and Mantrocel® and Mantroclear Cellulose Ethers for an extensive list of demanding immediate, controlled or enteric release applications. Through our dedication to advanced pharmaceutical and supplements coating technologies, Mantrose-Haeuser's controlled/extended release coatings provide reliable release and simplify the design and manufacturing process for tablets and capsules
